In a small bottle, mix ½ Linseed Oil (or Walnut Oil) + ½ Real Turpentine.

SUPPORTS;

18 x 28

Wood Panel or Shellacked Watercolor Paper, or Portrait Linen:

Raw Wood Panel, usually Birch Ply. (not masonite or MDF). These are available at Jerrys, Blick, SoHo Art, sometimes Utrecht. Or have a lumber yard cut a Grade A-1 (clear or select) seamless Birch.

One coating of Rabbit Skin Glue. Lightly sand when dry. Then:

Gesso. - 2 layers, lightly sanded between coats. Then:

One layer of GROUND: Mix your ground color using a palette knife using the following colors:

• Yellow ochre + • Blue black +• Terre Verte +• Oil primer

Mix until you get a MIDDLE Value (halfway between darkest dark and white) greenish-blue.

This will all take a week or so to dry.

OTHER MATERIALS REQUIRED

Sketchbook – for note taking

Linseed Oil (small bottle).

Smallish (9 1/2 x 12") Wood Palette (Most store-bought palettes need to be sized before using. Use 1 part shellac to 4 parts denatured alcohol to size palette. Brush on 2 coats, sanding lightly between coats.)

OMS (No Turpentine, please!) (Gamsol or Turpenoid or EcoHouse) in sealed container.

Palette Knife of choice.

Paper towels (Viva, Scott blue shop towels)

Palette Cup: one for medium (preferably one with a top).

Mahl Stick – if you are comfortable using it or would like to learn how.

Baby Wipes (Costco brand is great).

Optional: Masterson Stay-Wet Palette or air-tight plastic box large enough for your wood palette.
